

Infrastructure Assistance Coordinating Council Annual Conference | October 7-9 | Wenatchee

The Infrastructure Assistance Coordinating Council (IACC) is a nonprofit organization dedicated to helping Washington Tribes and communities identify and obtain the resources they need to develop, improve, and maintain infrastructure. IACC sponsors an annual conference bringing together state and federal agencies, Tribes, and local communities to support infrastructure needs through technical and financial assistance.

Included in this year's offerings are several sessions focused on Tribal-specific needs and perspectives, such as infrastructure planning, cultural resource management, Tribal/community partnerships, technical assistance, and Tribal funding from a variety of state and federal agencies. Additional highlights include a Tribal reception and dedicated resource connection time. Limited scholarships are available for attendees.

More than 60 sessions will be offered on a variety of topics, including water/wastewater, transportation, and brownfields. Technical assistance meetings are also available during the conference.

Registration Opens in July!

Full conference info and registration can be found at www.infracfunding.wa.gov/iacc-conference
For more info about IACC, contact Seth Elsen at seth.elsen@ecy.wa.gov.

